

PICKENS COUNTY MASTER GARDENERS SEE BIG CHANGES AT AMICALOLA FALLS STATE PARK VISITORS CENTER

The heat and dryness of summer have arrived; so Pickens County Master Gardeners Debbie Dickson and Anita Rosen have entered a period of assessment and maintenance at AFSP. With almost 100% of the material planted last fall making it through the winter and into July, there is much to enjoy at the Visitors' Center. If you have not been to see what the PCMG and members of the Friends of Amicalola have accomplished, come soon to enjoy summer's bounty.

Pictures

Above: Debbie Dickson gets on early start in filtered sunlight to beat the heat at Amicalola Falls State Park.

Left: Smoky the Bear watches over the wildflowers seeded as part of the PCMG project, which greet visitors as they approach the Visitors' Center. Early poppies have been replaced by an ongoing succession of seasonal flowers.